

Elliotts To Swing at Frosh Hop

BY JEFF SILLIFANT, News Editor

In order to cultivate relations with incoming freshmen, Carol Rohrbach, commissioner of student activities, announced "New Faces, 1962" as the theme for the traditional welcome dance.

"The semi-annual affair," said Miss Rohrbach, "is to greet the new students and congratulate the old for having nerve enough to return to one."

The Elliot Brothers (Bill and Lloyd) provide the swing with their nine-piece band tomorrow evening from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight in the field house.

Sporty Dress

A single student body card per couple is good for admission. Dress is sports (white shirt and tie for men and skirt and blouse for women).

Dance contests are on the agenda (twist, cha cha, slow dance, etc.), with a surprise or two thrown in, for an expected 800. Door prizes, consisting of record albums, will be given away.

Refreshments are served at the dance, which is the first of four dances during the semester. Coming up are the "Homecoming," "Kiddies Kut-ups" and "Winter Wonderland" dances, says Miss Rohrbach, who acts as mistress of ceremonies.

Students Decorate

For added significance decorations are in green and gold, Valley's school colors. Students are invited to help decorate the field house from 12 noon Friday until they must leave, said Miss Rohrbach.

"Each club receives a certain number of points—according to how many helps the respective clubs bring—toward the IOC trophy for 'Most Active Club on Campus,'" she related.

The dance is sponsored by the Executive Council. Funds appropriated for the welcoming are provided through the student body card.

Council members, faculty members and executive councils from the surrounding colleges are invited to attend. Miss Rohrbach will introduce the new president of the college, Dr. Marie Martin, during the evening.

Upon entering the dance each individual will be asked to sign a guest register.

Brothers Kickoff Affair

The Elliot Brothers, providing the musical combination for the kickoff affair, are well known for their long engagements at Disneyland and distinctive music. The band has made several hit records that have turned into standards. Among the most popular are "Soldier of Fortune," "Lonesome Road," "Ain't She Sweet" and "In the Mood."

Bill Elliot is noted for his tenor sax with Alfred Newman's 20th Century-Fox Studio Orchestra. His work is identified in the scores of films, "The King and I," "Love Me Tender," "Anastasia" and "The Girl Can't Help It."

Lloyd Elliot is known as David Rose's solo trombonist and can be recognized for his background music in "Around the World in 80 Days." He has appeared on such TV series as Red Skelton, Gale Storm and the "Shower of Stars."

Smith Studies Science Courses

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—The Carnegie Foundation has presented to Smith College a grant of $12,500 for a study of the science curriculum. The grant will free a committee of five from one-third of their teaching year in order to give them the time and opportunity to review thoroughly the science curriculum here.

News Briefs

Six Council Positions Still Open

Appointments for six positions on Executive Council have been scheduled for today, reports ASB President Dave Hinz. Students interested in filling one of these positions may apply at the Student Center, Bungalow 15. Offices still open include AMS president, ASB secretary, commissioner of women's athletics, commissioner of scholastic activities, coordinator of campus services and parliamentarian.

Enrollment Figures Re-announced

Enrollment figures for the fall semester, as reported in the Valley Star's last issue, were incorrect. The day enrollment is exactly 5,200. For evening division the new figure is 7,758, for a combined total of 12,958 in both divisions—a record number.

Outstanding Woman Engineer To Lecture On Research Field

Mrs. Maryly Van Lee Peck, one of the country's outstanding women engineers, will lecture on the "Growing Opportunities in Industry for Women Engineers and Technicians," Tuesday, Oct. 2, 11 a.m. in Engineering 101.

For the last year and a half, Mrs. Peck, a research engineer for Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation Inc., has been working on a study of hybrid fuel combustion and other vital defense projects. She is Senior Research Engineer in the Chemistry Section at Rocketdyne, and is the only woman engineer in the basic research department which she heads.

"Women are the untapped source of brainpower in the country today," says Mrs. Peck.

She holds a master's degree from the University of Florida and is presently studying for her Ph.D. In the past she has worked on Naval research projects at Washington D.C., Medical Field Research at Camp Liekeune, N.C., was an instructor at the University of Florida and a research engineer at Georgia Tech.

"The engineering field is open to women," she says, "if they are really competent. Their sex really doesn't make any difference. At the places I've worked, they have wanted an engineer."

The Van Leer family is an engineering family. Her father, the late Blake Van Leer, was president of Georgia Tech, her mother is an architectural engineer and her two brothers are also engineers.

Mrs. Peck doesn't hesitate to recommend the engineering field to any engineer-minded women. She spends a great deal of time lecturing to community and youth groups on the opportunities open for women.

"Education and ability are the keys to the engineering world, and it is getting easier for women to find and hold jobs in the field."

Mrs. Peck is national vice president of the Society of Women Engineers, the American Chemical Society, Sigma Xi and Pi Beta Phi.

Mrs. Peck is a housewife and a mother of four and her husband, Jordan B. Peck, is an Episcopal divinity student. She was featured in Sept. 14 issue of Life magazine—the "Take over generation."

Mrs. Peck came to Rocketdyne in 1961 and presently resides with her family in Canoga Park.

Freshmen Urged To Take Tests

The director of admissions at Bowdoin College recently urged that all high school students planning to enter college be required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test in May of their junior year. Such a system would help "produce some order out of chaos" in the college admissions process, Hubert S. Shaw said in an interview.

Job Opportunities Offered To Students at Job Clinic

Valley's new Job Clinic, sponsored by the Placement Bureau, is designed to teach students how to apply for a job and acquaint new students with the services of the Placement Bureau. The clinic will also tell interested students the techniques of dress and manner for full and part time students.

Many employers have complained to Dr. Dallas Livingston-Little, coordinator of the Job Clinic, that applicants in general have not given a good impression when applying for a job. The clinic hopes to convince students applying for a job that they represent the college to the prospective employer.

A meeting of the Job Clinic will be held today at 11 a.m. in A112 and every Tuesday and Thursday for the semester. Students applying for a job through the college are invited to today's meeting.

Informal Rally Canceled Today

An informal rally, scheduled for 11 a.m. today around the flagpole area, has been canceled. The event was listed in the calendar of events in the Students' Handbook.

RC Blood Bank To Visit Valley

Blood donor cards will be available to students from Knights and Coronets at the Student Center and business office.

Jane Cuffe and Knight President Tom Yale are the Red Cross College Board Representatives.

The Blood Mobile will be at Valley Oct. 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"When students give their blood it goes into their own savings account. Students get blood back when it is needed," says Yale.

One hundred and sixty-five pints of whole blood is needed to make the operation worth while.

This is the first blood mobile since 1959. Student nurses are asked for their help.

There will be interclub competition. When students sign as pledges, they are to tell which club they are from, if any.

The blood is replenished within 24 hours. Two hundred pledges are needed.

Students under 21 must have their parents approval.

VC Jazz Band Featured At Club Day Festival

BY BOBBI WAGNER

Assistant News Editor

Valley College's semi-annual Club Day will be held Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 11 a.m. in the Mall.

Outstanding features will include Robert MacDonald, music instructor and director of the college jazz band, presenting, with the band, several selections for the entertainment of the students; a well-known disc jockey from radio station KFWB; and displays of each club's activities.

The combo will be comprised of six members of the 17-piece jazz band.

Club Day, originated in Spring '57 by John O'Donnell, then the student vice president, was started for the purpose of introducing both new and old students to the numerous activities on campus.

Past Club Days

In the past the clubs have offered such entertainment as a karate exhibition, bake sales, barbecues, fortune telling booths, sports car exhibitions and others.

The clubs are under the supervision of the IOC, Inter-Organization Council, which meets every Tuesday at 11 a.m.

This year approximately 10 of the clubs on campus will be presenting special booths or exhibits.

Special Displays

The Sports Car Club will have on display sports and competition cars worth approximately $100,000 including an Aston Martin, Facel Vega, Mercedes Benz, several MG's and Dr. Helena Hilleary's XK 120 Jaguar. Dr. Hilleary is the assistant dean of student activities.

The German Club will operate a ski booth featuring music and the sale of strudel and coffee.

The Coronets, women's honor organization, will sell cake, cupcakes and cookies for a nominal fee.

The board members of the Associated Women Students will hold a cookie giveaway. Students obtaining tickets from members in the booth may purchase cookies free of charge.

Other Clubs To Participate

Many other clubs will feature individual displays or will join with another club to present an overall picture of their activities to interested students.

"Club Day has become a tradition at Valley College, and we are looking forward to a big student body and faculty turnout," says Dr. Hilleary.

All students are encouraged to participate in the event.

SCMA'S Urge Vaccine Doses

College students were urged today by the medical associations of six Southern California counties to take Sabin oral vaccine in the current campaign against polio.

Tenor of the request was set by Dr. Reginald H. Smart, chairman of the public health committee of the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Dr. Smart pointed out that the undergraduate community has a high stake in the success of the mass immunization program which is going ahead on schedule.

Those in the under 25-year age group are the most vulnerable to paralytic polio, he reminded.

Dr. Smart suggested that all college students take Sabin vaccine on the dates planned for public clinics which are Oct. 21 and 28, first immunization; Dec. 2 and 9, second immunization; and Feb. 3 and 10, third immunization.

"The Sabin on Sunday" program would make it possible to eradicate polio in Southern California if the public responds in sufficient numbers.

Dr. Smart's request is for students to make a point of seeing that 10 friends take the immunization doses in addition to themselves. A donation of 25 cents for each inoculation is all that will be asked. Sabin vaccine is easily taken, either on a sugar cube or in syrup.

Virologists are agreed that those who have taken Salk shots also should take Sabin which, in addition to personal protection, prevents recipients from being unwitting carriers.

'A Wilde Evening With Shaw' To Open the Athenaeum Series

"A Wilde Evening with Shaw" will open Valley's Fall '62 Athenaeum season Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the college theater.

Edited and adapted for the stage by Richard Gray and Mayo Loizeaux, the three-act show is the warmly human story of Oscar Wilde and Bernard Shaw, two men who wrote about the world as they saw it.

Anecdotes, ideas and comments taken from letters, newspaper clippings, essays and speeches combine with some of the best known and least known dramatic and literary works of these two fascinating minds that meet or clash on every major subject.

Although it is not commonly known, the two men knew each other and many surprising links between them are revealed as their story is told from the stage.

Co-directing the program is Sir Cedric Hardwicke, a close friend of Shaw and a distinguished actor and director. Having served Shaw in both capacities, Hardwicke is able to provide the masterful touch that allows the entire production to be simply staged using only a couch, a chair and rich costumes for each act.

Accomplished artists with many appearances to their credit, Gray, a British actor, and New York born Miss Loizeaux are also involved in the direction of the program, adding comment upon comment to the high spirited irreverence of the two authors to provoke an audience response that ranges from chuckles to chair-shaking laughs.

Dramatic readings are interspersed with enacted drama involving techniques of concert and stage employed by the two players. An entire year was given to the preparation and perfection of the evening's performance which has been designed to delineate the characters and lives of these two great writers.

The first two acts end at the turn of the century and are drawn from such major works as "An Ideal Husband," "Man of Destiny," "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," "Shaw's Prefaces," "The Soul of Man Under Socialism," "The Decay of Lying," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "The Happy Prince," and "Poems in Prose" as well as sundry speeches, essays and letters.

Major works from which the third act is made up include "Caesar and Cleopatra," "Man and Superman," "Pygmalion" and letters to Ellen Terry and Granville Barker.

Students will be admitted to the program on presentation of student body cards. Admission for the general public will be $1.

AUTHORS CONVERGE—Richard Gray and Mayo Loizeaux, who edited and adapted the three-act play, "A Wilde Evening With Shaw," are pictured above. The program will open the Athenaeum season Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Valley College Theater.

Stars, Stripes Still Symbol

While detained on a British sailing ship in September of 1814, a 35-year-old man witnessed something unforgettable.

The man, a lawyer and a poet, wrote a poem which reflected what he saw at daybreak. The poem later became as symbolic as the American flag.

The man who was stirred once by a flag, would have been disgusted had he been at Valley's first assembly. He would have noticed immediately something that few at the welcoming assembly did. Two American flags were coiled around their staffs throughout the program. Concealed.

Students who receive a liberal education under that flag didn't notice its position. Why? Has the flag become a meaningless symbol? Is its salute a memorized phrase, said with words lacking emotion?

Outside he would have seen another flag, a flag which could be seen from any spot on the campus. This flag, displayed properly, towers high over Valley College. One hundred and eighty-four years haven't changed it too much. It has more stars than it once did, but they, along with the stripes and colors, hold the same significance. The flag is still the emblem of a nation.

The man would have been faced with two questions. Do the people of today deserve the flag that waves over their domain? Have the people forgotten what others paid for it yesterday?

In his immortal poem, the man wrote words which carry into today.

*O, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand,
Between their lov'd home and the war's desolation,
Blest with victory and peace, may the heav'n rescued land,
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.*

Perhaps he would have asked himself the same question he posed so long ago, "O! say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave, O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?"—Francis Scott Key —BEN ROSE

The Day Was Today When World War III Started

BY BARRY GOLD, Copy Editor

WITH THE NERVE endings of the world on edge awaiting the next move of the United States and the Soviet Union concerning the situation in Cuba, the time has come to explore the unknown.

It is time to create a hypothetical unpleasantly vaguely referred to as World War III. The time has arrived to artificially explore and examine the conditions that probably exist before and after the great holocaust.

The time has come to explain what would happen "If War Came Tomorrow."

Omaha, Neb., is the nerve center for the Strategic Air Command. Word is flashed to Omaha from the radar warning sites in Alaska and Greenland. Unidentifiable missiles have been sighted. Word is immediately sent to the President and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Emergency war procedures begin at 80 SAC bases around the world.

THIRTY MINUTES prior to the sighting the scene in Russia was one of intense preparation. In three sites within Russia the huge T-3s are being readied for firing off their pads. The long-range Bear and Bison bombers lift off the runways on their missions of death and destruction. Tankers and medium range bombers get the word to prepare for take-off from bases all over the Soviet bloc. Their targets are the U.S. bases in Europe, Alaska, Japan, Formosa and Okinawa.

Soviet subs hidden off the U.S. Coast have been alerted to surface and to begin firing their Golem missiles on their pre-designated targets.

All of the Soviet arsenal will, for the first time, be on display for the rest of the world to view. One hundred and fifty intercontinental bombers with 20 megaton bombs in their bellies; 75-100 long-range missiles with 10 megaton warheads; 200 medium-range bombers; 50 missiles aboard subs round out the arsenal Mr. K has prepared for the capitalistic masses.

AND THEN the reign of death begins. Cheyenne, Spokane, Denver and Topeka. SAC bases from coast to coast and Charleston, S.C., Norfolk, San Francisco and San Diego. All are swarmed upon by terror from the skies. Baltimore and Los Angeles are destroyed.

Washington, D.C., is crushed and New York is left unrecognizable. London and Rome are also feeling the wrath of Hammer and Sickle strength.

The toll of the attack has been a ghastly one. Forty American cities incinerated. Forty to 50 million Americans killed and 20 million injured. Twelve million homes gone. Forty per cent of U.S. industry wiped out and 60 per cent of our military bases, major airfields and Naval centers crippled.

We have been hit very hard, but we still do survive!

But what of the retaliation?

THE ALERT had been passed to the SAC bases around the world moments after the initial warning from Alaska. Now the fight is on.

More than 350 B-52 and B-58 jet bombers take to the air with 50 megaton loads of H-Bombs and Hound Dog missiles. Ten Atlas or Titan ICBMs that are left standing after the attack take off from their pads carrying 5 megaton warheads. From European bases 500 B-47 and Century Series fighter bombers strike at the USSR with A-bombs and rockets. Navy carriers launch 80 jet attack bombers with megaton loads. From the sea comes the might of 96 missiles from six Polaris subs. Also 175 missiles of various types are sent out to attack.

The result is not pretty. Eighty to 100 million Russians are dead with 30 million more injured. Seventy per cent of Russia's industry is gone with 130 cities devastated. Almost all of her war-making potential, military bases, rail centers, communication, airfields, shipyards and government centers are destroyed.

World War III is over.

WHAT IS the result of the inevitable clash between the two Hercules of the modern world? Who is the winner?

As predicted before, the nuclear exchange has left no winner. Russia has suffered a defeat no other nation in the history of the planet has ever incurred. Because of Mr. K's bold move Russia will remain destroyed for the next 25 years. The dream of Russian dictated Communist control of the world is gone forever.

The United States has suffered dearly but certainly not fatally. Within a period of approximately 10 years she will be able to rebuild and to return to the normal year of 1962.

During the period of rebuilding she will still be able to maintain a military force strong enough to be a deterrent to anyone else who may have any ideas of furthering a totalitarian goal.

This bloody nightmare brings up an interesting thought. Do you still think Mr. K will be willing to go to war over a little island in the Caribbean?

athletes. In fact, it was there that I developed a great love for athletics."

She believes that athletics helps attain one of the college's basic goals—establishing the well-rounded person.

A strong believer in both the social as well as educational development of the individual, Dr. Martin stated that she is very pleased with the clubs on the Valley College campus. "They are generated by student interest," said the president, "and because of this they are alive and real."

When the press conference came to a close the people who had met Dr. Martin for the first time realized what her friends at LACC had known for 15 years—Valley College will be in capable hands for the next nine months.

Growing Journ. Dept. Serves Valley College

BY RICK MARKS, Editor

THE PURPOSE of journalism at a college is to serve. At Valley the department of journalism has done just this for 13 years, first presenting the college with a weekly paper, later with an annual and then adding an evening magazine.

When registration closed Friday, 342 students, 202 of which are day students, were enrolled in the various journalism courses offered at Valley. Last year 265 students were enrolled in journalism, 173 of that total were day students.

This means an increase of 77 and many of these were top high school journalists in the Southern California area.

AMONG THESE are Brent Carruth and Roger Karraker. Carruth, from Burroughs High School, was the recipient of an $800 scholarship from the San Fernando Valley Press Club. Karraker was the semester sweepstakes winner at the NAJD writing contest held in Canoga Park last spring. Karraker, who was in competition with 450 other journalists, won first places in both sports and news writing.

Thirty of the 93 Journalism 1 students are journalism majors. Over all, there are 62 majors in the department.

Increase in enrollment means increase in curriculums. Last February the department added a technical writing course. Presently there are 92 technical writing students.

NEXT FEBRUARY, magazine photography, under the instruction of Earl Theisen, will be added to the journalism program. Theisen is senior photographer for Look Magazine, having been connected with that magazine for 27 years.

Already 12 requests have been filed for this class, which is open to students upon consent of the instructor or a prerequisite of Photography 1.

There are 29 students presently enrolled in photography at the college.

THE JOURNALISM department added one new day instructor this year, Leo Garapedian. Garapedian has been assigned to teach a special sports class which will handle all the sports publicity of the college and the sports writing for the Valley Star.

The Star, which began serving the school in Fall '49, has won 14 consecutive all-American awards.

Crown, the college annual, has been complimented over the years as being unique in its style and contents. The annual is in the form of a magazine and is released once a year.

IN 1959 DONALD CLICK, dean of the evening division, came up with the idea of an evening magazine. Sceptre, published monthly, is put out by the evening class of Journalism 8 students.

The news bureau has been functioning at Valley since 1949. It serves the community newspapers with up-to-date news releases on Valley College news.

Although Inside Magazine was created to serve and is written by students from the seven Los Angeles colleges, editors all have come from the Valley journalism department.

LAST WEEK three Valley journalism alumni were winners at the San Fernando Press Awards Dinner. Charlene Schueller won an award for the best story on the woman's page; Helen Aragon won an award in the feature category; and Dick Tyler won an award in the teen page category.

Three ex-Valley journalists were recently presented with scholarships to four-year colleges. Dave Wright, last spring's editor, was granted a $250 scholarship from San Fernando Valley State.

Joel Schwarz, editor of the Star two years ago, recently received a scholarship from UCLA for graduate study in journalism. And Frank Kaplan, former city editor of the Star in 1961, won a full tuition scholarship to USC.

The journalism department at Valley College has taken an active part in school and community journalism, and will continue to do so in the future. And behind all of this is one great objective—service.

Valley Residents Harassed By Current 'Growing Pains'

BY MARI K. QUINN, Managing Editor

ALMOST EVERYONE can remember passing through a period of life filled with "growing pains," ailments peculiar to adolescence which occur when some parts of the youngster grow faster than others.

Right now the San Fernando Valley, having not yet reached its majority, is suffering a number of such pains, chief among them that caused by the accelerated growth of Van Nuys airport.

Mari K. Quinn

Berlin crisis. As the largest unit recalled from one geographical area in the country, the 146th received its share of publicity and attention and, naturally, so did the airport.

IT WASN'T UNEXPECTED then, when two small companies set up scheduled air flights out of the Van Nuys facility during the summer.

Thrilled by the prospect of developing air service in the Valley, Donald Lorenzen, president of the West Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce, told one company, "I think it is a big step forward, we have wanted it for a long time."

"If the Valley were located anywhere else, it would have an international airport of its own. Valley residents will have to prove they want this kind of service by using it so that other air lines will move in."

However, there were some factions which found even the suggestion of "other air lines moving in" a disaster.

Dr. Arnold Greene, president of the Encino Chamber of Commerce, views "the recent developments at the Van Nuys Airport with dire misgivings."

IN A LETTER to Lorenzen, Dr. Greene stated, "The increase in air traffic may not be a great menace to us now, but it is, in fact, a danger that will some day give us all great concern."

Dr. Greene went on to urge Lorenzen as president of the West Valley Chambers "to give serious consideration to this threat and to take whatever action is needed to stop it."

Following the publication of Dr. Green's statement, Albert Zoraster, West Valley Chamber president, endorsed the expansion of Van Nuys

Airport, saying, "We believe the airport is an asset to the entire Valley. Every asset the Valley has must be developed if we are to maintain our prosperity and provide future employment for our citizens."

On the heels of the endorsement came more complaints from Dr. Greene, who maintains that he has received numerous calls from Valley residents who support the Encino Chamber of Commerce's stand and object to low-flying planes over the Valley.

AS A RESULT, an appeal to the Federal Aviation Agency to check the extent of the problem was made by the West Valley Chamber.

To date, there has been no reply from the FAA concerning its findings.

Doubtlessly, they will put some restrictions, even if they are minor—on those who use the Van Nuys facility. But, regardless of anyone's efforts to stint its growth, the Van Nuys arm will continue to develop.

Unfortunately, the "pains" of its development will probably continue to be felt—at least until the remainder of this body of land reaches its adult stage.

Campus Smokers Face Fine

Students who attend Valley College and smoke, and combine the two, may find the price of tobacco has risen somewhat. That next pack of cigarettes may cost $500.25—depending on where they are smoked.

During the past week a fire marshal has been checking various campus classrooms for any violations of the Los Angeles City and County Fire Ordinances—violations that can carry a $500 fine with them.

Rules concerning smoking in Los Angeles schools are—

1. Classrooms—no smoking is allowed either in classrooms or areas and corridors adjacent to classes (no smoking except on the steps outside of buildings).

2. Special Areas (library, men's gym, student's store, etc.)—no smoking, except where designated by smoking permitted signs or in the administrative offices and students' lounge.

3. Outdoors—smoking is permitted, except where designated as a no smoking area.

"If you're in doubt as to where you can smoke," says William Lewis, dean of student activities, "just look for an ash receptacle. An adequate number of ash receptacles have been provided wherever smoking is permissible."

The above rules will be strictly enforced at Valley College, and apply to both students and faculty. Lewis says a first offense of the rules will probably draw a warning, but continual violations "are definitely grounds for suspension."

Season Opens Early

The universal language of love? At Valley College? Who would ever believe it?

It's here, though. Just as if it were a part of an expanded automation program at Valley.

It comes with each new school year—not quite like the Black Plague that swept Europe, maybe—but it compares in at least one respect.

It sweeps.

With benign expression. And it never really goes away.

That last little buss before class. Then, possibly a nip on the cheek. Or a caress. Never just goodbye.

Alas, the price of embarrassment to the meandering passerby. Pray tell where is the Pied Piper of Valleyland to rid us of the "rats" (or are they cockatoos?) to put the on-campus lovemaking into the sea of privacy.

For, it is true, the college campus is a sea for public knowledge—not public lovemaking.

And speaking of the meandering passerby, what is he or she to think about it all. Who is invading whose privacy, anyway?

'Tis 'deed a shame the kiss and linger kids are humbly oblivious to the fact, and "know not what they do."

Come out all ye who suffer from this Black Plague and show your reddening faces to abolish the goings-on of the Mulholland set who haven't as yet left there, morally speaking.

Of course, those few students who break the privacy policy might feel that engaging (or it is indulging?) in this on-campus waste of time might actually find it resourceful—as far as being spurred on to homework or classwork victories. In other words, one kiss on the cheek is worth an "A" for the day.

What it comes down to in the final analysis, then, is that this Igor-like infatuation is plainly unwanted—no matter what the circumstances; just as lockjaw of the toenail is undesirable.

And look at it this way. If circumstances permit the Nomads of lovers lane to continue with the lolling of gags, who knows but what it won't be unfit for a person to proceed in even four-legged gait fashion down the campus without the aid of sunglasses, for fear of being blinded by the flashy red faces of oncomers in somewhat numb states.

So—will the tight-lipped soon tell? Who knows?

Meanwhile, a comparatively calm sea is churning up a tidal wave.

Dr. Martin Charms Reporters At First Press Conference

BY RICK MARKS, Editor

At the end of her press conference Monday, after being questioned thoroughly on all facets of her life and philosophy, Dr. Marie Martin, Valley's new president, stated emphatically:

"I start my job at eight tomorrow, gentlemen, and I will be here at eight. My husband wants me to make a good impression."

The new president had already made a good impression. She had stated with poise and charm, before a throng of reporters, photographers and school officials, her attitudes upon becoming Valley's one-year replacement for William J. McNellis.

Valley's first lady, whose sincere warmth and friendliness is reflected in her personality, was grateful for her presidential opportunity.

"I never dreamed I'd some day become a college president. And, to say the least, I am delighted. I am very happy over the most cordial welcome extended me here."

Dr. Martin has been in the Los Angeles school system since 1946. She had been an administrator at LA City College since 1955. Her presence at that college will be missed.

"She is," said Chuck Robinson, head of the City College print shop, "a real person. When she tells you something, you know where you stand. I hope Valley will treat her well."

Another City College instructor said that "the departure of Dr. Martin is a serious loss to City College."

The list of well-wishers from LACC is long. The college and everyone who knew her feels they have lost a true and close friend. Dr. Martin has formed basic philosophies over her new position—head of a college which boasts an enrollment of nearly 13,000.

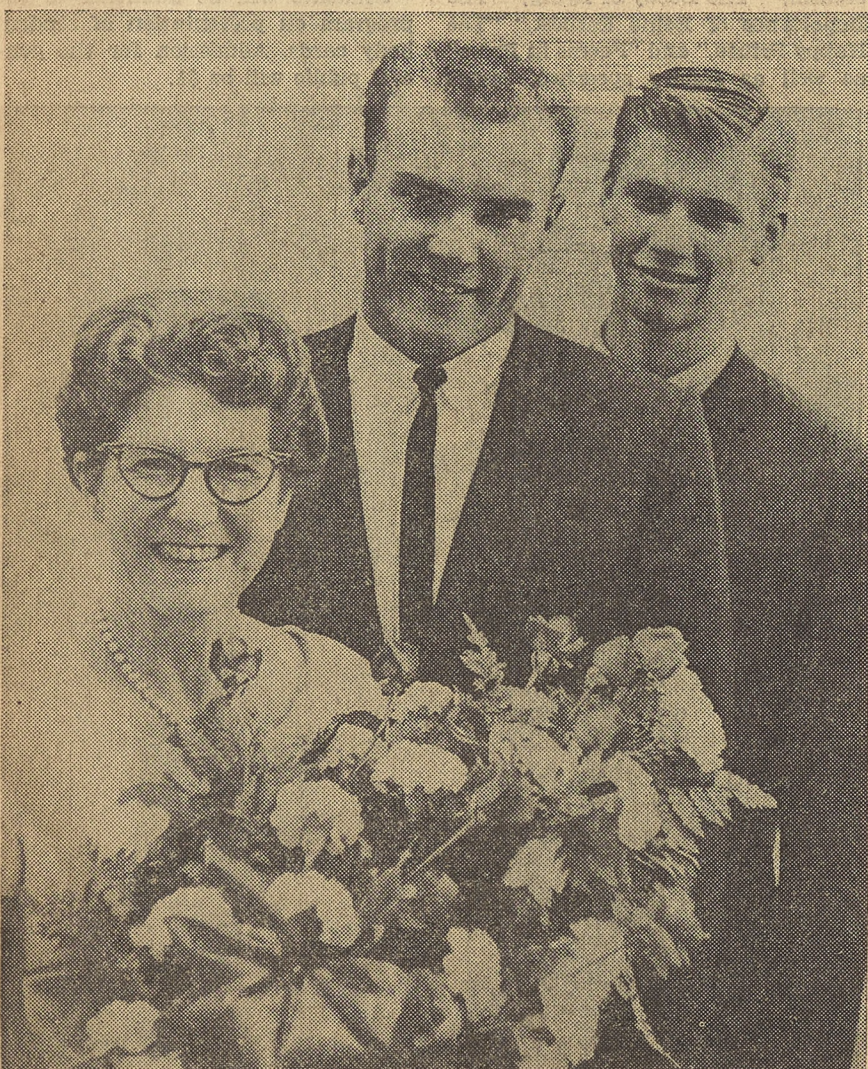

"Life's overall purpose," said Dr. Martin, "is productivity in the sense that each of us wishes to make the highest contribution of self to society by the fullest use of our powers and resources."

"I believe it is the administrator's duty to function so that the physical, mental and emotional climate is conducive to this productivity, within the talents available."

Her philosophy is carried one step further when she states that the manner in which a person can contribute is varied. "Neither all people nor all institutions can excel in the same way."

Valley's president is married and has one son. She earned her bachelor's degree from University of California at Berkeley in 1930, her master's from USC in 1947 and her education degree from USC in 1954. She has performed the duties of counselor and teacher along with her administrative posts.

"At UCLA," recalls Dr. Martin, "I used to check eligibility cards for

VALLEY STAR

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1962 3

BY JACKIE WEITMAN
Feature Editor

Your student body president Dave Hinz is a "big" man, accustomed to tackling difficult jobs. His robust, rugged physique stands 6 feet, 3 inches, weight 205 pounds, and for two years he held one of the most dangerous jobs in Southern California as a firefighter in the United States Forestry Service.

Chicago-born Dave, a 20-year-old sophomore (Business Administration major) carries 14½ units, works in a haberdashery 20 hours a week, and so far this semester has spent an average of 10 hours a day on the job as your student body president.

Eventually Dave hopes to become self-employed. Meanwhile he will transfer, upon graduation from Valley in February of '63, to USC.

He lives with his mother (his father died three years ago) and a brother, 19, near North Hollywood High, from which he was graduated in summer of '59.

Dave's hobbies, although, as he puts it, "I haven't much time for them this semester," are deep sea fishing and water skiing.

Getting an education has been a struggle, Dave says. He attended Valley College one semester after finishing high school, then a second semester only part time while working. Then he interrupted his education to join the U.S. Forestry Service where, during his two-year service, he worked as a combined patrolman and packer of supplies to lookout towers, on fire-suppression detail, as a TTO (tank-truck operator) and finally worked up to "crew boss" where he supervised fire fighters during the damaging White Mountain fire two years ago in Las Padres National Forest in Kern County.

What does he think about young men starting college before serving in the Armed Forces?

"That," said Dave, "is strictly up to the individual. There's time enough to serve Uncle Sam after a man gets his education. Yet for some, it seems they don't appreciate what college is all about unless they first go into service."

What does he advise Valley freshmen to do to get acquainted?

"Join at least one club," says Dave. "The first semester I was here I didn't, and Valley can be a cold, lonely place if you don't feel you really belong."

Repeating what he had said at the Freshman Welcoming Assembly last week, he emphasized, "It's equally important for college students to develop socially as well as academically. It's equally unwise to overdo either."

Dave is a popular student body president, but he isn't easy to get to know. "It takes a bit of doing," is the way some of his student co-workers put it. At heart he's becoming shy.

His curiosity and a desire to learn more about the world and everybody in it, including himself, plus his "good looks" and leadership qualities, leads him naturally into learning for himself and leading others.

Says Dave, "Being student body president is both exciting and a lot of work, but what isn't hard work that's worth working for?"

All in all Dave sums up his office as Valley's student body leader as being, "A great, great experience."

Koffee Klatch Held Today for Faculty

A "Koffee Klatch" is being held in the banquet room of the cafeteria today for faculty and staff members. This program is also designed to acquaint people with the activities of the student government and has been a regular feature for several years.

The Executive Council's success with its program for the faculty and staff encouraged it to initiate a similar program for the student body.

Executive Council

The Executive Council invited new students to tour its facilities in the Student Center during an open house Thursday.

Approximately 150 students took advantage of the invitation to become more familiar with the operations of the student government.

First Semester for Open House

This is the first semester that open house has been held for students. Carol Rohrbach, commissioner of student activities, said that she was pleased with the turnout and expected larger attendance next semester.

"The entire program was designed to interest students in participating in student government," Miss Rohrbach said.

Knights To Pass Out Donor Cards

The Knights, men's honorary service organization, will have a booth set up on Club Day to pass out blood donor cards for the bloodmobile, Oct. 18.

This semester's officers are Tom Yale, president; Eric Jensen, vice president; Bob Cons, treasurer; Larry Malin, recording secretary; Manny Simons, corresponding secretary; Dave Davis, historian. Eric Jensen will be acting as IOC representative.

"Membership in the Knights is by invitation only. Men interested in becoming members should first become active and maintain a 2.0 grade average," says Tom Yale.

Father Weber Talks Before Newman Club

Father Weber, O.I.M., will be guest speaker at the next Newman Club meeting Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. at St. Francis de Sales. Father Weber will talk on the Ecumenical Council.

German Club Hosts Semester Officers

Die Frohliche Runde, the German Club, will hold the first meeting of the semester Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 11 a.m. in 104 of the Foreign Language Building.

Members and prospective members are encouraged to come and meet this semester officers which include James Burrell, president; Mark Brenner, vice president; Burt Klugkist, treasurer.

Information for the Hello Party Oct. 6 will be part of the business.

Coronets Bake Sale Opens on Club Day

Coronets, women's honorary service club, will hold their annual bake sale Club Day, Oct. 2. Coronets will sell cakes, cookies and cup cakes.

Janie Yale, first semester Coronet, is the new IOC representative for the club.

Tomorrow, the Coronets will help decorate for the Welcome Dance scheduled for tomorrow night.

Valuable Sports Cars On Display Club Day

Sports and competition cars valued at more than $100,000 will be displayed by the Valley College Sports Car Club on Club Day Tuesday.

Among the cars to be shown there will be an Aston Martin, a Facel Vega and XK 120 Jaguar belonging to Helena Hilleary, assistant dean of student activities.

Car club members will be on hand to answer any questions concerning the Sports Car Club and its activities which include trips, parties and a variety of group events.

Berggreen and Dunlap Made Yell Leaders

Two regular and two alternate cheer leaders were chosen Tuesday at the annual tryouts in the Men's Gym.

Gary Berggreen from Grant High School and Randy Dunlap from Dorsey High were chosen to be regular cheer leaders from approximately 20 other contestants. Ward Turnquist and Marty Oeland, both having attended Valley during a previous semester, were elected as alternates.

Join Squad Second Game

The students elected will join the cheerleaders elected in the student body election last spring — Nancy Moore, Gary Patterson and Ron Nickerson—at the game between Long Beach and Valley Oct. 6.

Judging of the contestants was done by a committee of faculty members consisting of Mrs. Tirzah Lundgren, physical education instructor and cheer leading sponsor; Ralph Caldwell, men's physical education instructor; and Miss Jeanne Pons, physical educational instructor.

Also judging were cheerleaders Nancy Moore and Gary Patterson.

The candidates were judged on appearance, personality, enthusiasm, leadership, rhythm, energy, motions and timing. Points are distributed from 10 to 10.

Students receiving the highest number of total votes given by the committee are appointed to the vacant positions which include two regulars, who must be new students to Valley, and two alternates. Alternates may be new or old students.

Song Leaders

Song leader tryouts which were scheduled for the same time had to be postponed because of lack of time, but will be held today at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gym.

Two regular and two alternate positions are also open on the song-leading squad. The two regulars who are elected will join the four song leaders who were elected in the spring at the same game as the new cheerleaders.

Judy Anderson, Sue Kauffman, Sally Kavanaugh and Bobbi Wagner, the previously elected song leaders, will vote along with the faculty committee.

Although the song leader squad consists of only six, the alternates will be used in the Homecoming game and the parades which include the Junior Rose Bowl and the Hollywood Christmas parade.

Monarchs Promising Against San Francisco Despite Final Period Breakdown at CCSF

BY JIM BREEN, Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO—Last Friday Valley's football team accomplished something it failed to do in its first four games last year—score a touchdown.

The Monarchs scored in the second quarter of their opening game against San Francisco City College, but the Rams rallied for three of their own in the final quarter to win 22-6.

In the opening quarter a recovered fumble by Mike Finnegan and an intercepted pass by Mike Peoples appeared to have the Lions off in the right direction. However, both times costly penalties nullified any eventual gain. There were a total of 21 in the game.

After neither team was able to move the ball into scoring territory in the opening quarter, Lion fullback Howard Briles culminated a 79 yard drive in 14 plays by driving 21 yards to paydirt after 6:40 of the second period. A bad snap from center foiled the conversion attempt.

In the closing minutes of the half the Rams advanced deep to Valley territory on the passing arm of quarterback Ben Winslow, but ran out of time after a 21 yard pass play put the ball on the Lion 23.

Within the first two minutes of the third quarter the Ram offense began to move. Led by the bruising runs of Ron Coleman, CCSF scored its initial touchdown when the speedy halfback plunged over from the four. The Rams traveled 36 yards in seven plays, with Coleman accounting for all but three of the total yards during the drive. End Mel Tom carried the ball for the additional two points.

Valley's biggest break of the game came towards the end of the third quarter when defensive back Monwell Fuller intercepted a Winslow pass on the Ram 34. However, a costly fumble gave the ball back to San Francisco.

The Rams iced the game with a 61 yard drive with five minutes remaining. Coleman shot up the middle for 21. On the following play Walt Williams circled left end, got a great block from Tom on the 35 and rambled in from 48 yards out.

The inspired team from the Bay City scored their final touchdown on the second to last play of the game. Halfback Ben Brown intercepted a pass thrown by sub quarterback Jim Knapp and raced 21 yards to score. It was on this play that Knapp injured his foot. However, he is expected back in the lineup against Glendale tomorrow night.

Coach Ker felt that the only serious mistakes the Monarchs made on defense were in the final quarter. "The boys may have been too complacent after leaving the game at halftime with a lead," he said. "Once our offense gets rolling we are going to win our share of games."

HE'S BACK—Returning to the 1962 edition of Valley's football team is quarterback Al Crawford. Crawford was the leading passer on the 1961 club and is shown here picking up additional yardage on the ground against Glendale that year.

Crawford is slated to see plenty of action Saturday night when the Monarchs meet the Vaqueros in Valley's opening game of the season on Monarch Field.

Lions Face Cerritos

Valley College Harriers will take on the Falcons of Cerritos at Long Beach State. The meet is scheduled to start tomorrow at 3 p.m.

This contest, in all probability, should be the toughest of the year for the Monarchs. The Falcons are the 1961 champions of the Western States Conference. They host a crew of fine runners led by freshmen Jim Peeso and Clarence Creager.

Last Friday, the Monarchs were handed a stunning defeat at the hands of the San Diego Knights. The Knights were led by Bob Jenkins, a freshman, who turned the "short" 3 mile course in 13:37.

The final score of the San Diego meet was San Diego 26, Valley 31. Coach Charles Mann attributed the slow times to "lack of conditioning." Mann explained, "We usually have a practice meet two weeks after the start of the semester, and our first conference meet isn't usually until the third or fourth week. Up to the San Diego meet we only had three days of practice. The boys just didn't have enough time to get in shape."

Monarchs Meet Dangerous Vags in 'Horsecollar' Tilt

BY DALE ROBERTSON, Assistant Sports Editor

Saturday opens the Monarchs' first home game of the '62 season against Glendale College. Game time is at 8 p.m. in the traditional "Horse Collar" game.

The Valley-Glendale series is Valley's oldest and dates back to the Monarchs' first year in football in 1950. Since Valley lost last year by a score of 22-0, the series now stands at 6-6. Until 1958 not more than one touchdown had separated loser from winner.

In 1958 the Monarchs rolled up 487 net yards for a college record.

Both Teams Lose

Both teams had a losing first week as the Lions lost to San Francisco City College 22-6, and Glendale College lost to Long Beach City College 48-0.

The game between Long Beach and Glendale had been billed as a strong contest, but Long Beach scored 20 points in the second quarter, 6 in the third and 22 in the fourth quarter to defeat Glendale easily.

Glendale's deepest penetration into Long Beach territory was stopped on the 25 yard line.

A "Horse Collar" is given to the losing team in the Valley-Glendale series. The losing coach is forced to take the collar back to his school to remind him of his defeat for the remainder of the year.

Vags Strong

Glendale has 14 returning lettermen to make them a strong contender in the Western States Conference. Last year they were champions.

Some of the returning lettermen who will probably see action are Paul Passano, Robert Webber, Steve Voight, Donald Johnson and Bill Renison at halfbacks. The ends are Roger Clark, Tony Clark and Dennis Beneditti. The latter was outstanding in the Long Beach game.

Returning at guard is James Brennan at 230 pounds and tackle Bud Snickles at 205 pounds.

Last year's blank by Glendale was the second of four straight shut-outs handed the Monarchs last year.

The Lions' defense played a fine game in holding the Vags in the first half with several great defensive stands on fourth down plays.

In the second half halfback Renison burst over tackle and went 58 yards to the touchdown with less than a minute gone in the third quarter.

Two Yard Plunge

Renison scored again two minutes later on a two yard plunge after guard Bill Reece recovered a deflected lateral thrown by Lion quarterback Al Crawford.

Glendale's final score came with 2:36 left in the game. Bob Berry's pass was intercepted by Beneditti who raced 40 yards for the touchdown.

The Lion defense was outstanding as they gave up only one touchdown of the three that were scored.

Metro Menu

Initial Week Sees Upsets

The opening week of junior college football saw two major upsets.

For the first time in two years Bakersfield College fell in defeat. A mighty team from Columbia Basin pasted the Renegades to a 20-7 loss. Elsewhere on the Metro scene Long Beach blasted Glendale's hopes of a Junior College Rose Bowl bid as the Vikings blasted the Vags 48-0. El Camino avenged a 1961 70-20 creaming from Boise, Idaho, as the Warriors ran to a 38-6 win.
